WINTER IS COMING

PREPARE!

The price of Gas has been advanced and must cost the consumers more money unless they buy stoves which will make more heat for the amount of fuel consumed.

This can be done by purchasing stoves which remove the cold air from the floor.

The air is more uniform in the room in which they are used. Warm feet and a cool head are conducive of long life.

We have THESE stoves for sale for either coal or gas.

Please call and examine for yourself.

Prices always right.

No trouble to show our goods.

The Commission Business Their Hobby.

It's a cold day when the commission business is not graced with the presence of a representative or two from among the ranks of the window glass workers. Hud Campbell was the first to try his hand and after a brief sojourn in Charleston where he trafficked in oleomargarine, old hens and stale butter he vamoosed suddenly when the pure food commissioners got on his trail. Tussey tried it own in Jersey but after a varied experience of a few short months, he has decided to return to his old love—the cutter's table. And now Gotsinger has turned his back on an official position in the new L. A. 300, with its factory closing accompaniments, and we are told has developed into a full-fledged commission merchant. He started in the earlier part of this week and latest reports are that he is still in the business.—National Glais Budget.

PITTSBURG EXPOSITION OPEN.

Enormous Crush of Sightseers—Brilliance of the Interior Amazes the Public.

Brilliant beyond any similar event in the Smoky City was the opening on the evening of Wednesday, September 4, of the new Pittsburg Exposition, and so enormous was the crush of sightseers that moving about at times was almost impossible. Manager Fitzpatrick declares without reserve that the throng that was present on this occasion was the greatest, the grandest and most brilliant ever seen at an Exposition opening in Pittsburg.

To say that the beauties of the new buildings aside from any other feature, caused wonderment and amazement is putting it mildly. The public was wholly unprepared for the brilliant illuminations, for the grand promenades, for the superb new music hall and for the really elegant booths and displays.

The new march, composed by the world's greatest bandmaster, John Philip Sousa, especially for the dedication of the new buildings and named "The Pride of Pittsburg," was received with wild enthusiasm, as indeed was all the music presented by the ever popular leader. Sousa and his Band will remain at the Exposition until September 17, after which they go direct to Glasgow, Scotland, to play four weeks at the Exposition. The programs prepared by Mr. Sousa for his Pittsburg engagement contain some of the choicest novelties found anywhere. The Sousa encores, thrilling because of their rhythmic strength, of course, will be in evidence at each of the four daily concerts.

Mechanical Hall, that home of industry and manufactures, is in gala dress, owing to the use of bright colors in the shape of bunting and of paint. One of the features of this department is a brick making plant of latest design in full operation. Interesting, of course, at all times, is the marvelous electrical displays of the Westinghouse Company.

Among the attractions one cannot mention too often are the Children's Theatre, with its life-sized figures, the Cinematograph, with its life-like moving pictures, and the $15,000 Roller Coaster, with its dizzy curves and deep dips.

Comments without number are daily being heard on the marvelous feat of the Exposition directors in constructing the two new buildings in the short space of four months. The thousands of out-of-town patrons of the Exposition, who are held in such high esteem, will rejoice with the management in the possession of the finest buildings absolutely seen at any permanent Exposition in the United States. They indeed are marvels of beauty, of completeness and brilliance.

The railroads are making preparations to carry enormous crowds to the Exposition. Excursions will be run every Thursday during the season on every railroad entering Pittsburg, the dates being September 13, 19 and 26, October 3, 10 and 17, the cost in each case being one fare for the round trip. Special excursions have been arranged on certain railroads for Tuesdays and Saturdays alternately. Out-of-town patrons can depend upon it that their interests have been most carefully guarded, and that everything has been done to make their stay at the Exposition comfortable and instructive.
